

Transform your production floor with MARCO Production Data Display (PDD), a cutting-edge, factory-wide digital signage solution that revolutionises communication and performance monitoring. Seamlessly integrating Ultra HD LED display screens above your existing packing lines, PDD delivers instant, crystal-clear instructional images, videos, and messages throughout your facility.

This powerful system empowers shop floor management with real-time visibility into individual line and packer performance, utilising an intuitive red-amber-green system that instantly communicates productivity against set targets. By bridging the gap between data and action, PDD doesn't just display information – it drives efficiency, boosts productivity, and fosters a culture of continuous improvement across your entire operation.

This innovative system empowers admin users to craft compelling, product-specific narratives that seamlessly blend critical production data, custom messaging, and rich media content. From high-quality technical videos to informational documents in virtually any format, PDD ensures your vital specifications and standards are continuously broadcast across the production floor.

PDD acts as the vital link between pack house performance and shop floor execution, ensuring that best practices and key metrics are communicated.
